

ABSTRACT

An exemplary array of thermally-assisted magnetic memory structures, each of the magnetic memory structures comprises a memory cell, a write conductor contacting the memory cell, the write conductor selecting the memory cell in a first coordinate during a write operation, and a heating system contacting the memory cell. The heating system heats the memory cell during the write operation and selects the memory cell by the heating in a second coordinate.